

Thermogravimetric Analysis (TGA)

TGA analysis is a tool for investigating the thermal properties of systems. It consists of a very sensitive balance in a programmable oven. The balance senses small changes in mass of the sample as the temperature around the sample is changed. The temperature can be programmed from ambient to 1000 degrees Centigrade.

Picture of TGA

